

Build teams in the original home of group culture

絆

Japan is a culture known for working together as a group. And Tokyo offers the right blend of cultural resources and venues for teambuilding activities that will forge long-lasting bonds in your organization.

If you have ever seen Taiko drummers in action you know how individual members drum in unison to produce a powerful, rhythmic sound. Overcoming the challenge of striking the drums in sync creates a unique and powerful team-building exercise.

Team cooking is another great way to build teams by leveraging the Tokyo culinary culture. Get your team to whip up some Japanese delicacies together. Points are awarded based on merits such as originality, presentation and working as a team. A park near the Tokyo waterfront offers a great venue. Eating what they've created together will give your team a lasting taste of their time in Tokyo.
